We trust this invasion is meant to be determined and decisive, and that is will not be spilled by a premature recall. It the rebeis are indeed our masters, let them prove it and let us own it. If they are not, let us make them acknowledge the corn. We hope this demonstration, together with that of Gen. Grant at Vicksburg, may be so managed as practically to end the war. The New York World Wicks the regged legious of Lee wilgive a quietus to the peace movement. It thinks that -

It is very elementary Gen. Lee did not march into Pennsylva da to "tring prace, but a sweet." We fear the deliberations of the a frends of peace in that State will not amount to prich until the invasion is over. It requires quiet, and a chance for serens contemplation, to appreciate properly the scraphic vision of the fion lying down with the lamb The glare of burning dwellings, the fierce yellof excited soldiery, and the crashing of shells and masket balls, infect communities with a kird of mod ess, and the peace' philosophers are compelled to get out of the way or hitch in the fight themselves. It is very clear that the only peace that is possible between the North and the South is one that will be conqueral by one side or the other.

The New York News sings a different song. fo is patured that brave then should step into the ranks to repel invasion; they cannot stand with folded arms to gaze upon the glare of their own burning habitations, nor will they look apon the nostile columns that tread their soil as if they were the parts of holiday pageant. But the fact that the actual calumities of war have come to their ewn thresholds will cause them to think more earnestly, and earnest thought is the natural and best ally of peace. The honost vecmanry that are gathcred together this day for the defence of Peansylvania, will, in the solemn night, when grouping about their camp-fires, commune with their own hearts upon the question that is that being brought home to their comprehension. They will take counsel not from their own common sense and instincts, and le a from the sophistries of demagogues. The whole North may be ableze with excitement. ben the reace sentiment, being of that intense and self-creative nature which depends not upon passing emotion and transient enthusiasa, is not only invulnerable to the vicissi-taces of war, but throughout all its future pineses will gather prosclytes all alike in the temporary full and in the ragging tempest.

LEXCOLN COWED - Referring to the maneer in which the threats of a Chicago mob forced Idecola to repeal the order of his satray, Burnside, for the suppression of the Chiengo Times, the New York World holds the following language. It will be seen that it opento charges Lincoln with combining the foars of the coward with the spirit of the tyrint; and uses towards him a language of defiance amounting almost to bullyism:

President Lincoln has never stood before the country in a worse light than at this moment. He has so deliberately committed Limself against free discussion by the trans portation of Nr. From Gen. Johnston's Headquarters. We were favored late yesterday evening with a special interview from a highly intellirent and reliable gentleman, who came directly from the bendanariers of General Johnston. His character, however, will be best inferred when we announce him to be no less a personage than the confidential agent of the General, and at present en route to Richmond with important dispatches for the War Department. His position, it will readily backserved, is one requiring the observance if much relicence on his part, but he nevertheless gave as much interesting information, a pertion which we shall proceed to lay before our readers. The armies of Kirby Smith, Taylor and Price, now under the complete contril of the wary chiefiain, are each in posttion for moving at a moments warning towands the common centre-Vicksburg-and will be most likely to saford an early relief to its heroic garrison by the total annihilation of Grant's army-a consummation not in the least improbable. The General's headquar ters in the day time are at Jackson, in the night at Carton. He suffers from no want of pravi ions, transportation facilities or army stores; but on the contrary commands the ample t abundance of each. Hundreds of notics and horses are standing title in his depar ment awaiting the command of "Artillery to the Frant." There is no longer a doubt that all's ready for a forward movement. A number of facts are in our possession which, were it prudent to announce here, would convince the most skeptical that the hour of action is at hand-aye striking, at the moment the eye is glancing over this article, and the fearful fire from the rear about to open upon the weary, wasted forces of Grant.

An Appeal to the Peaple of South Carclina in behalf of the sick and wounded Soldiers in Hospital.

A part of Howard's Grove Hospital having recently been appropriated for the exclusive reception and treatment of the sick and wounded soldiers from South Carolina, a Brief account of the hospital, with an appeal to the people of the State to assist in supplying a want much felt, will not be regarded mapproprime. The hospital is situated in the eastora suburbs of the city of Richmond, on the Mechanicsville Turnpike, leading to the fa-mous Chick-hominy. It is located in a beautiful grove, on an elevated bill, commanding an extensive view of the city and surrounding country. It is one of the most beautiful and healthy localities in this section of Virginia. The hospital can accommodiate 1024 patients and is divided into wards 80 by 30 feet, sepa rated from each other by streets 65 feet in wid h. The wards accommodate 32 patients each, and are well ventilated. In winter they are warmed by an ample supply of stoves. The kitckens, bakery, mess rooms, laundry, linen rooms, baggage rooms, bath rooms, etc. are all of ample dimension, and the utmost cleanliness and good order prevail throughout the entire establishment. The hospital was built under the-direction and supervision of Surgeon C. D. Rice, of Walterboro, S. C., and reflects much credit upon him as an officer of splendid administrative ability. The Government is profuse in its supply of comferts and luxuries for the sick. The linen department is well supplied, and the appropriations, of money are ample to furnish every comfort and luxury that the City of Richmond affords. the h spital is divided into two divisions. The first division, under my care, can accommodate 514 patients, and has recently been set apart for the exclusive reception of sick and wounded South Carolinians. There are 355 patients now receiving treatment at this place, and they are daily increasing in numbers. While all of their creature wants are provided for, there is nothing o amuse or divert them. Many of our solliers are men of intellectual cultivation. In the field they are necessarily without access to books. They become familiar with scenes of violence and bloodsned; with nothing to counteract the baneful influence, the baser attributes of man are pumpered at the oxpense of his more emobling traits of character. When disease overtakes him he is sent to a hospital, where he remains often for many months (most of the time convalescing) without any means of rational instructive erjoyment. Thus many weary moments are spent, and much valuable time thrown away, which could be passed in reading instructive and moral books. This difficulty could be overcome by supplying the hospitals with well selected, un scellaneous libraries. The object of this communication is to appeal to the people of South Carolina for contributions of money or books, for the purpose of establishing a library at the hospital. The moral and intellectual cultivation of our soliers is a subject dear to the people of the State, and we are sure this apreal will not be in vain. Most of our soldiers are men of ducation, and would appreciate Literary. Theological, Scientific, Agricultural and His torical writings. The hospital is abundantly supplied with Bibles and Religious Tracts, The Central Presbyterian Association of Richmond," having recently made a large con ribution. A Chaplain, employed by the Government, Lolds divine service in the chapel at the hospital every Sabbath.

The Second Division of the Hospital has not yet been assigned to any particular State. As soon as it is, a similar appeal will be made upon the p-ople of the State, to which it is appropriated. This hospital was built at a very heavy cost to the Government, and is so perfect in all its parts that it is highly probable it will become a permanent institution. In such an event, the library could be turned over to the Confederate States. Any contributious of mone; or books aidressed to Surgoon C D. Rice, or to the subscriber at Howard's Grove Hospital, Richmond, Va., will be promptly received and properly appropriated. CHARLES WITSELL, P. A. C. S., Surgeon in Charge 1st Division Howard's Grove Hosp'l.

We are indebted to the politeness of Cadet Percival S. Norris for an "Official Register" of the South Carolina Military Academy for 1863. Of this well known institution, or its able Academic Board, we need say nothing; our people are already perfectly acquainted with its high claims and great merits. We think it ought to, and will, become the West Point of the Southern Confederacy. The notable feature in the prosent Register is a list of the Graduates of the institution since its organization, with remarks upon their services during this war. In this list we see many names now brilliantly distinguished; it is a bright "R.ll of Honor." We take pleasure in sopying a Circular appended to this Register; the Circular will show the object of the list above spoken of. CIRCULAR.

To GRADUATES OR THEIR PRIENDS : The undersigned respectfully solicits informa-tion in regard to Graduates. Of those heard from during the past two years, nearly all are in sor-vice; many have been wounded, some have been killed, and it is due to them and to history that a record of their services should be preserved. To this end, the Chairman of the Board of Visiters has authorized him to collect information concerning them.

The following questions will suggest points on which information is desired: What was his occu pation before the war? When, where, and in what espacity did he enter service? How often, and in what battles, was he noted for gallant and met-itorious conduct? At what battle was be wounded? What commission does he hold at present? Or where was he killed, and what were the circumstances connected with his fall? Answers to these questions, or any ofter information you may communicate to the undersigned, at Columbia, S. C., will be duly appreciated.

Very respectfully, JOHN B. PATRICK, Secretary Board of Visitore S. G. M. A. Time Lost and Goings

It is high time (says the Charleston | Mercury) for the State authorities to do something towards furnishing labor, if it is expected that Charleston is to be saved from destruction at the hands of the enemy next fall. There is a vast deal of work to be done which the soldiers we have cannot possibly accomplish. Much precious time has already been wasted, and it will now require every effort on the part of all parties concerned, to get ready to fight twenty iron-clads, besides the land forces. The times require resource and boldness and energy in all those who, in the public service have any band in controlling the destinies of our people. The legislation of the tempest-in-a-teapot Legislature may be very bungling. It may satisfy legal technicalities to say that requisitions have been made and certain forms have been gone through. The public care nothing about personal records and shiftings of responsibility. They have a right to judge, and will judge, overy pub lie servant, whether in the army or out of it, by results, . Papers and writings may do very well in ordinary times, but in a crisis of difficulties and dangers like the present, whou such enormous interests are at stake, nothing but successful results can satisfy. Difficulties must be expected, must be met-ways must be found to overcome them. To fail is to prove unequal to the occasion. We tell the people of Charleston and of South Carolina that without more effert and more progross in our defences, the fall of Charleston and the whole Low Country of the State, are events not improbable. These are "words of truth and soberness." "They that have ears, lot them hear." Lacor is wanted; work is absolutely essential to our safety, and no small amount of it. Richmond has been fortified by the incessant labor of fifteen thousand slaves for nine months. Cannot enough A few weeks delay may render all subsequent efforts fruitless. A pressing need is upon us now.

Great Ercitement !- Gen. Grein arcends the Sa luda 500,000 Strong !- Nin ty-Sie has Eurfen dered!!-Star Bodoubt in Possession of the Enemy ! ! !- Position of the Enemy, de. * GRASSVILLE, June 29.

Our pickets having been driven in from off the Saluda, by the approach of the enemy, reported to Headquarters that Gen. Green, in command of an overwhelming force, (5:0,000 or more,) had ascended the Saluda in his pluvial gunboats, and that he had already taken possession of all that fortile region on both sides of Ninety-Six Crock! The excitement is very great, and though the confusion into which our forces were thrown by this anequivocal surprise has not yet subsided, yet, we have reason to believe that, by the superior skill of our Generals, the enomy will be routed or driven back before Christmas, Gen. Green by taken possession of the old Star Redoubt and made it his headquarters, while he has strongly fortified himself on many of the fertile farms of that neighborhood.

On the farm of Dr. J. A. Stiltgrass the enery 8 very strongly fortified and presents an impregmable front, but we be a that he will here receive such a duce of blue mass as will cause muny to sleep the sleep that knows no awaking.

On the farm of Dr. H. W. Longgrass the enemy has thrown up the most formidable breast works and entrenched himself in the mest improved style. Our forces here, being completely surprised and many of them taken prisoners-unable to subdue the enemy-are waiting to be reinforced by the forces of Gen. Jack Frost,-when they will no more be compelled to change their base-but may expect to rout the merciless foe with terribie slaughter.

On the farm of M.j. G. A. Allgrass the enemy has also taken a strong position in the fork of tw creeks, without fords or bridges, and has so fortified himself that it will be next to impossible to dislodge him. Our forces here under command of Col. P .- Pull-at-it are bravely contending for the mastery. Heavy skirmishingsue doubtful.

On the farm of F. G. Muchgrass the enemy has built several em bankments, one fortress, and three lines of parallels, and various other strongholds. The struggle here will be tremendous; our forces, though in presence of overwhelming numbers, are in good spirits-issue doubtful.

On the farm of Gen R. G. M. Doublegraze the enemy is strongly fortified and has been largely reinforced. Having thrown up a monstrous embankment all around his forces, and being in poshe is impregnably scated, and we have but little hope of his ever being assaulted with any degree of success. Our forces are notwithstanding bravely giving battle, and have detailed a large force to build white-eak transports in which to hamper the foe, and thus are confident of success.

On the farm of J. Craburase the enemy has posted his most formidable forces and so fortified himself that, without the most fearful and long continued struggle, he caunot be routed. Our forces here, under command of Col. J. Cat it-up. have suffered severely, as they have been frequent ly surprised and several times flanked. Being bountifully supplied with beef cattle and fine shoep, the Colonel, though surrounded by the enemy, expects to eat his way through them-the issue doubtful .-

On the farm of J. H. Mighty-high-grass the enemy has concentrated the flower of his army and is no doubt preparing here to go into winter quarters with all his forces. He is strongly fortifled with all the munitious of war, and little hope is extertained of his being routed. Our forces, commanded by Col. V. Call-for-kelp, have suffered many reverses-and, as many of them are prisoners on parol, the Colonel has stready applied to Gen. Frost for reinforcements. He has however established a telegraph line by which to communicate with his camp while engaged with the enemy. And with a large stock of cattle on hand he may succeed in annujing the enemy very

On the farm of H. H. Makegrass the enemy is n full pessession and strongly fortified. Our forces here have been skirmi-hing a long time and have not as yet gaine i any advantage over the enemy. It is feared that this portion of our forces will be ultimately captured.

On the form of Mrs. M. P. Bunchgrass the euemy is fortified, and has so entrenched his forces as to preclude the least hope of ever being driven out. On the farm of G. W. Herdegrass the enemy has covered those beautiful Haw-plains with breastworks and so completely surrounded our forces that we are cut off from all communication with them, and their fate is as yet unknown. There is great excitement occasioned by this sad disaster to the noble cause for which we are so earnestly struggling.

On the farm of A. P. Killyrass a very large portion of the enemy is stationed, and being strongly entrenched are perpetrating the most diabolical raids in every direction. Our forces here have been so often repulsed that they are almost discouraged,-but having a skillful general we may yet hear a good account of them before Christmas.

On the farm of T. Peppergrass the enemy has taken a stand and, without fear of melestation, erecting the most formidable of all fortresses. Our forces here are not idle, but confidently expeeting reinforcements from Gon. Frost.

On the farm of Dr. E. Allmost-gone the enemy are reveling in security,-raiding and devastating generally. Our forces under command of Col. K. Red-top-grass are striking a blow here and there. but with little hope of ever driving the fee from his stronghold.

On the farm of Dr. T. Lapgrass the enemy is entrenched, fortified and boldly spreading himself like's green bay tree, throwing up embankmonts in the most millet-ary style. Our forces here are undaunted and with so skillful a leader will no doubt root-or-bag-or turn-up all this implacable foe before Christmas.

AN INFAMOUS OUTRAGE .- The Burlington (Iowa) Argus in giving an account of the recent arbitrary arrest of Henry Clay Dean, in Keokuk, Iowa, says:

"The commander of the military here, one Charles Ball, was at the head of the mob who maltracted Dean. Under the pretense of searching Dean, he stripped him stark naked, and be compelled him to remain in that nude state for some twenty minutes, the sulject of Abolition jeers, ridicule and abuse. Had a negro been thus exposed in his person and maltreated, how the Abolition whelps of Iowa would have yelled out over it as " such a disgrace to humanity," such brutal treatment to a fellow being. &c., but as Dean is only white man and a Democrat, not one Abelition voice or pen is found to denounce.
